NORTH SIDE NEWS

Auto Turns Turtle Without Hurting Occupants.

George Archer and Williams Boy Were in Car.

WERE WOMEN ALSO IN PARTY?

Woman's Shoe Found on Machine After Accident.

Heard Asking for Archer Telephoning to Garage.

George Archer of 1221 North Monroe street and a boy by the name of Williams were in Archer's automobile when it turned three somersaults over an embankment several hundred feet north of the Central avenue bridge about 11 o'clock last night. No one was seriously hurt. The machine was damaged to the extent and the occupants evidently escaped serious injury by clinging to the seats. The machine is a thirty horsepower Jacks-on-car.

This morning a woman's shoe was found on the top of the overturned auto. This, Mr. Archer says, must have been placed there as a joke, as no woman was in the machine. The Williams boy, whose first name he says he doesn't know, was the only other occupant of the auto. Archer is now a single man about 40 years old.

However, the people in the J. W. Reed house from which he telephoned to the garage, heard the woman laughing and talking in the road. One of the women came to the door of the house and called for Archer. He told her to go back and wait for him.

That the party escaped serious injury if not death seems almost miraculous. Indications are that the auto was headed north and going at a rapid rate. The two front wheels left the embankment. The machine turned over on its side and also a somersault in the way the road was mired. The lamps, fender and body of the automobile were wrecked.

The radiator and wheels this morning when the machine was taken to the Williams garage were a mass of mud. The lamps, fender and body of the automobile were wrecked.

"We were going to drag another larger machine out of the mud," said Archer this morning. "A boy by the name of Williams, whose first name I don't know, was with me. We were the only ones in the car. We were in the front seat. A little north of the Central avenue bridge the front wheels left the bank which is pretty steep there. The auto rolled over on its side. We hung to the seats until the auto quit rolling. We weren't even bruised. No woman was with us. Some one put the shoe on the machine for a joke."

Notes and Personal.

COTTOLENE
CONTAINS NO HOG FAT
USE 1/3 LESS

The American people are waking up to the fact that hog lard is often indigestible, and sometimes unhealthy.

Cottolene, a pure, vegetable product, is fast replacing hog lard for frying and shortening. It makes better, more healthful food—and is more economical. Cottolene is economical because it goes one-third farther than butter or lard.

Cottolene is packed in air-tight tins, never sold in bulk, and its purity and freshness are guaranteed.

Women for Wireless Operators.

Seattle, Wash., April 5.—Women will supplant men as wireless operators on the steamships in the North Pacific if the plans of R. H. Armstrong, manager of a wireless telegraph company that has contracts with many lines are followed. Mr. Armstrong, who says men are not always satisfactory, yesterday engaged Miss Mabel Kohn and Miss S. Throckmory, his first women operators and turned them over to Chief Operator C. B. Cooper for instruction. The young women will be taught to repair the apparatus when disabled.
